ABOUT COMMUNITY LIVING TORONTO

We foster inclusive communities by supporting the rights and choices of more than 4,000 children, youth, and adults with an intellectual disability.

Established in 1948, we are celebrating over 75 years of belonging. With 80+ locations across the Greater Toronto Area and a wide variety of supports and services, we're part of your community.

WHAT'S AN INTELLECTUAL DISABILITY?

An intellectual disability is an impairment in cognitive function that affects areas of daily living, such as personal care, language skills, and learning abilities. It arises before adulthood and usually lasts throughout life.

People with an intellectual disability can face barriers in living the life they want. An estimated 1 – 3 per cent of people in Ontario live with an intellectual disability. Of that population:
